MXI Security Awarded National Master Standing Offer By Canadian Government

Designation establishes MXI Security as the Preferred provider of Portable Security Solutions, Making it easier for personnel to buy Cutting Edge Technology

MXI Security, the leading provider of Government Portable Security Solutions, today announced it was awarded a National Master Standing Offer (NMSO number E60QE-08BIOM/001/QE) from Public Works and Government Services Canada on October 1st, 2007.

“Government personnel now have access to MXI Security’s MXP family of portable security devices designed to meet the most stringent security and privacy requirements of today’s mobile workforce,” said Julian Reusing, President, North America, for MXI Security.

Already referenced in the ITS Pre-qualified Product List (IPPL) by the Government of Canada Communications Security Establishment, MXI Security products will be available to all Canadian government agencies and departments at a guaranteed price without any other formality than placing an order.

MXI Security MXP product family, including the FIPS 140-2 Level 2 validated Stealth MXP and Stealth Passport, are superior USB portable security solutions, protecting data with transparent embedded hardware encryption (AES 256) and strong 2 factor authentication. MXP devices can be easily managed and deployed with Access Enterprise software that is included in the NMSO. MXP token services enable secure employee remote access to network resources thus facilitating greater mobility without compromising security.

MXI Security is proud to serve the Canadian Department of National Defence, Justice Canada, Veterans Affairs, Statistics Canada, Department of Foreign Affairs and International Trade, Public Safety Canada, Communications Security Establishment, Senate, Industry Canada, Canada Revenue and Corrections Canada.

MXI Security will be at the GTEC 2007 show (booth 2114) in Ottawa on October 16th and 17th and will be pleased to answer questions and provide product demonstrations.
